

② Return type of overridden method must be same as that of overriding method in parent. ✓

③ Return type of overridden method in child class can be different as that of parent if it is co-variant return type (return type is - A relationship).

④  $\Rightarrow$  parameters of overriding method must be same as that of parent else it will be considered as overloaded method considering method overloading.

---

`super();`  $\Rightarrow$  inside  $\rightarrow$  constructor
 $\hookrightarrow$  it will call parent class constructor ✓ ✓